GAS LINE ACCIDENTALLY PUNCTURED

The pungent odor of natural gas and a loud hissing whistle sent a demolition crew scurrying from this site on Pandosy Street Saturday about 1 p.m. The block between Leon Avenue and Lawrence Avenue was quickly closed to traffic after the demolition crew accidentally punctured a gas main. Here a member of the RCMP watches as two workmen cautiously search for the broken gas main, which was closed within 20 minutes by Inland Natural Gas. A workman on the scene said his crew thought the line had already been shut off. Shortly after the picture was taken a city front end loader was placed over the hole to contain a possible explosion. The damage here was not done by the gas, but was the work of the demolition crew. (Courier photo)

Scotland Yard Smashes LSD Manufacturing Base

LONDON (CP) — A Scotland Yard informant said today the yard believes it has smashed the manufacturing base in Britain forming part of a huge international ring to supply the hallucinatory drug LSD to users on the Pacific coast of Canada and the United States.

Two men have been detained and charged and equipment seized on raids on northwest and east London premises indicated the black-market value of the drugs involved could have been as high as $60,000,000, the informant said.

Both the RCMP and the FBI have been brought into the investigation. This disclosure followed a report in the Sunday Telegraph that one Toronto man arrested and questioned by police in Toronto—identified as M. A. Kussner—drank from a glass and died of cyanide poisoning.

The newspaper said police had information, which Kussner denied, that he had been employed as a chemist by the Canadian defence department. The newspaper said also that documents seized here in Britain indictated LSD was being manufactured in a Canadian government laboratory.

The Scotland Yard informant said investigations here indicated that local persons were manufacturing the chemical product which was then exported to Canada and the United States for refinement into LSD. He said the volume of manufacturing here was "tremendous."

Charged with conspiring to contravene the Drugs Prevention Act are two London men: Malcolm David Sinclair, 29, a research chemist, and John Conway, 35, a company director. They are coming up for committal hearing March 3.

The conspiracy charges cover the period of Dec. 1, 1968, to Jan. 15, 1969. On Jan. 15, police raided houses in the Paddington area of west London and a laboratory in east London. The 12-man police squad seized U.S. and British currency and 18 jars. Some of these contained the LSD chemical base which had fetched $13,000,000 when refined. The other jars contained traces of the chemical. The informant said if these jars had been filled, the black market value of the contents would have been about $47,000,000.

Federal Mediation Service Urged By Railway Workers

OTTAWA (CP) — In a proposal similar to one already made by Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey, the organization representing 120,000 Canadian railway workers Monday urged establishment of a full-time, crack federal mediation service.

The Canadian Railway Labor Executives Association, in its annual brief to the cabinet, noted insertion of a federal mediator in recent rail labor negotiations as a "worthwhile endeavor."

William Kelly, head of the labor department conciliation branch and a former railway labor leader, was sent into the negotiations at an early stage by Mr. Mackasey. Contract settlement followed shortly afterward, likely the quickest settlement ever.

The association recommended a panel of highly-qualified full-time mediators supported by a small secretariat of experts in economics and related subjects to provide continuous analysis of industries under federal jurisdiction.

The panel might take the form of a quasi-judicial board "independent of political policy or pressures." Labor and management would keep it informed of all developments in their dealings.

Other points raised included: Injunctions—Injunctions in labor disputes should not be granted unless the party against whom an injunction is being sought is given an opportunity to testify and call witnesses.

Picketing—To be compelled by court order to reduce the picket line to a token few will nullify its effect and destroy the purpose of the whole strike.

Railway safety—An independent inquiry should investigate railway safety. There were reports of "an increasing number of derailments on the railroads." There should also be greater level-crossing protection.

Israeli Planes Exchange Fire With Ground Troops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli jets flew over Jordan today to knock out Arab guerrilla positions that fired bazookas on an Israeli patrol in the southern Beisan Valley, an army spokesman said.

The spokesman said Israeli ground troops returned the fire and "a few planes were called in." There were no Israeli casualties. It was the second time in less than a week that Israeli planes attacked guerrilla positions inside Jordan.

The army also said 16 persons were injured in several explosions Sunday inside Israeli-occupied territory.

Eight Arab civilians were wounded when their car was hit by a grenade aimed at an Israeli military truck in Nabulus. Twelve persons were arrested. Three Arab youths were wounded while examining a piece of iron tubing that exploded, and four Israeli soldiers and a civilian were injured when Israeli army vehicles touched off two mines in the Negev desert.

In Jericho, police fired in the air to disperse 300 rock-throwing students demonstrating against the Israeli occupation. Four youth were arrested, fined and released.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad started a six-nation tour to Syria, Lebanon, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Kuwait, seeking to determine their stands toward the Big Four talks the United States is trying to arrange at the United Nations.

Train Collision Kills 20 Persons

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)

At least 20 Negroes died today when a crowded South African passenger train collided with a gasoline tanker train near here.

Waiting Negro women watched badly burned men stagger from the flames and collapse by the tracks.

Rescue workers formed a human chain to lift stretchers with burned and mutilated bodies from the track to waiting ambulances.

U.S. Ships Leave Istanbul

ISTANBUL (Reuters) —

United States 6th Fleet warships slipped out of Istanbul early today after a week's visit to the Turkish port marked by anti-American protests and a bloody clash between 20,000 rival demonstrators Sunday, in which two persons died and more than 100 were hurt.

The aircraft carrier Forrestal and accompanying destroyers sailed into the Sea of Marmara on their way to the Mediterranean as police stood by to deal with any further anti-American protests.

The clash Sunday came when a procession of 10,000 left-wingers marching in protest against the presence of the American ships was attacked by as many government supporters.

The street battle, in which shots were fired and knives used, was the culmination of a week of continuous protests by leftist students and labor union members.

Premier Suleyman Demirel called a cabinet meeting Sunday night and a statement regretting the incidents was issued. The National Youth Organization called on the government to resign.

France Splits With WEU

LONDON (Reuters) — France today pulled out of activities in the council of the Western European Union until further notice, informed sources reported.

France communicated the decision to Britain and to WEU Secretary-General Maurice Iwens d'Eeckhoutte of Belgium, the sources said.

The French government also called for cancellation of a meeting of the permanent representatives of the seven-country WEU scheduled for Tuesday in London. But France's other partners have decided to go ahead with the meeting.

Letter Carriers Threaten Strike

Aquanaut Dies Checking Sealab

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A United States aquanaut died of a heart attack while diving at 610 feet today to check air leaks in the project Sealab III habitat, the U.S. Navy reported.

He was identified as Berry L. Cannon, 33, an electronics engineer from Panama City, Fla.

The navy blamed the death, first since the Sealab underwater exploration program began in 1964, "on cardiac arrest."

Cannon was one of four divers who went down early today to investigate air leaks from the 57-by-12 foot Sealab III on the floor of the ocean about a mile off San Clemente Island. They made the trip in a pressurized personnel transfer capsule lowered by cable from the U.S. Navy ship Elk River.

The navy said Cannon left the capsule and was swimming to the habitat when stricken. He was returned to the capsule by

New Mail System Starts While Agreement Sought

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The post office's new "straight-through" delivery system starts today in a climate of continued disagreement over work terms.

Members of the 10,000-strong Letter Carriers Union of Canada in Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver decided against strike action at weekend meetings, but centres in southwestern Ontario voted to walk off their jobs Feb. 23 if their demands are not met.

Jack Colville, national secretary-treasurer of the union, said Sunday in Ottawa the new system will be tried while agreement is sought.

"We are not anticipating any work disruption," he said.

Two main points still are in dispute about the new system, under which carriers will not have to return to the post office at mid-day to sort mail for the afternoon delivery.

One is the question of transportation time for the carrier at lunch break. The post office has agreed to pick up carriers and take them to the post office for lunch, and to take them back to the route afterward.

But it says this must be done on the carrier's time, while the union feels the carrier should go back on duty when he leaves the post office.

The other issue is whether two five-minute wash-up periods should be included in the 41 minutes now allowed for "rest and personal needs" during the day.

A post office spokesman in Ottawa said treasury board lawyers are studying an adjudication ruling to see whether the two five-minute periods must be added to the 41-minute total.

Representatives of 2,500 letter carriers in the Toronto area voted Sunday to seek a legal settlement in the dispute.

Representatives of the 24 locals in district 5 of the union, which covers Metropolitan Toronto and an area from Milton to Oshawa in the east and north to Orangeville, voted 250 to 10 to approve a strike if normal procedures do not produce a settlement.

Prior to the Sunday meeting in Toronto, each of the locals voted to strike if the straight-through working day issue is not settled.

Robert McGarry, business representative for District 5, said Sunday the district will ask the Council of Postal Unions today to begin proceedings under the Public Service Staff Relations Act to decide whether the letter carriers are entitled to their demands.

Hellyer's Housing Inquiry Blasted By 'Think Tank'

TORONTO (CP) — A "think tank" composed of Canadian architects, sociologists and others concerned with housing today accused the Hellyer housing inquiry of being "wishy-washy" on the subject of public housing.

"Easing mortgage terms, as the task force recommended, will help only middle and upper income groups," said Peter Bastien, a Toronto architect who was chairman of the 30-member study team.

"We think it is absolutely essential to provide housing for low-income Canadians," he told a news conference. "Public housing is a necessary part of this program."

The Hellyer report was presented to the government last month, after months of sittings across Canada. Among other recommendations, the Hellyer committee suggested all public housing projects be halted until the government had time to study their social implications.

"The task force's stand is wishy-washy," said Peter Bastien, a vice-president of Revenue Properties Central Development Ltd., and a study team member.

"They say they want to do research on it. They're completely ignoring the years of research in Ontario, which was 24,000 public housing units."

Truce In Vietnam Ends And Will Not Be Extended

SAIGON (AP) — After a 24-hour truce for the start of the lunar new year, U.S. and South Vietnamese forces resumed operations tonight to ward off any major Communist offensive.

The southern allied truce ended at 6 p.m. (5 a.m. EST) and spokesmen said it would not be extended. They will ignore a reminder of the Viet Cong's seven-day ceasefire, which runs until 7 a.m. Saturday, just as they ignored the first 35 hours of it.

U.S. headquarters said the Communists violated their own ceasefire, and the period of southern allied truce with at least 170 attacks during the 53 hours from 7 a.m. Saturday until noon today.

Headquarters reported that 128 of these incidents occurred during the first 18 hours of the southern allied truce, including an attempt early today by hundreds of North Vietnamese to overrun a U.S. marine artillery base near the Laotian border.

During the southern allied truce, U.S. headquarters said, eight Americans were killed and 71 were wounded, while American forces killed at least 96 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and captured seven.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced that 16 government soldiers had been killed and 86 wounded since 7 a.m. Saturday. A spokesman said government troops killed 110 enemy soldiers and captured 61 during the same period.

GOLD BUYING

ZURICH (AP) — President Nixon's call for a re-evaluation of the international monetary system topped off a flurry of gold buying today on the Swiss market, the world's biggest. The price opened at $42.55-$42.75 U.S. an ounce, 15 cents above the closing level last Friday.

AT WEEKEND EVENTS

PM Well-Guarded In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP) — An inner ring of Mounties and an outer ring of city police enclosed Prime Minister Trudeau as he appeared at winter carnival events during the weekend.

He needed the protection as a sea of blondes, brunettes and redheads surged forward at every turn.

The only chants heard during the weekend were "We want Trudeau" when he was inside at one point.

An orange thrown from a cheering crowd of 12,000 whistled past the prime minister's car Saturday afternoon as he stepped from the ice after dropping the puck for the final game of the international pee-wee hockey tournament at the Quebec Coliseum. The incident was almost unnoticed and went ignored.

At Saturday night's big carnival parade, watched by tens of thousands of natives and visiting travellers, Mr. Trudeau stood on an open platform to review it.

About 150 police, including detectives from Montreal's identification squad, mingled with the cheering crowd. Some of Montreal's militant separatists were said to be in town.

However, there was no hint of the violence that turned last June's St. Jean-Baptiste Day parade in Montreal into a riotous test of nerve of the cool prime minister.

Later Saturday night, Mr. Trudeau went to the home of author Roger Lemelin for a private party attended by about 80 guests.

He went to mass Sunday at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in the Lower Town district.

Mr. Trudeau went on to the Patro Roc Amador, a recreation centre in the same district, for a political meeting where he kissed scores of women as he worked his way through a crowd of 3,000 to make his only weekend speech.

In it, he described the Liberal party as an instrument through which Canadians can work together for the benefit of the whole country.

Mr. Trudeau then lunched aboard the icebreaker L'Anclonne-Lorette before trying to fire a gun—it wouldn't go off—to open the ice canoe races between Quebec City and Lévis, across the St. Lawrence River.

After watching the races by helicopter, he was flown to l'Anclonne-Lorette airport 10 miles from Quebec City to spend Sunday night in Montreal.

City police said their 750-man force was bolstered by 1,200 to 1,500 security guards and police on loan from other municipalities for the weekend.

"I'll be leaving soon... better let Spiro out and get him ready!"

Micheners on State Visit To Caribbean Countries

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (CP) — Governor-General and Mrs. Roland Michener shed formal attire Sunday to visit Kaieteur Falls, some 100 miles into the jungle interior of this South American country.

The Micheners, on a state visit to four Commonwealth countries of the Caribbean area, flew from Georgetown to a small landing strip near the falls in a twin-engine Otter aircraft made available to this country through the Canadian external aid program.

They had to walk about half a mile from the airstrip to the falls where they stood on an overhanging ledge to watch the waters of the Potaro River make their spectacular descent down a 471-foot drop.

On the way to the falls, they flew up the Potaro Gorge where the cliffs on either side rose above the height of their aircraft.

Mrs. Michener wore slacks. Mr. Michener wore slacks and a sports jacket. He soon shed the jacket after the hike from the landing field. Members of the press, who were flown into the site for the occasion, took pictures of the Micheners viewing the falls but learned later at Georgetown that they had missed the best picture of the trip.

SPECTACULAR VIEW

The Governor-General, they were told, along with Guyana's Governor-General, Sir David Rose, lay on their stomachs after lunch and leaned over the gorge to get a more spectacular view.

Mrs. Michener, perhaps a little nervous, was said to have hung on to Mr. Michener's legs as he leaned out. Photographers had departed from the site earlier.

On arrival at Georgetown Saturday, Mr. Michener was accorded a 21-gun salute as head of state and inspected a guard of honor of the Guyana defence force. Crowds lined the streets of the capital as Mr. Michener's car drove in from the airport.

Saturday night, Sir David and Lady Rose entertained at a dinner attended by several hundred guests.

Sunday morning, the Micheners attended services at St. George's Anglican Cathedral. They flew here from Kingston, Jamaica, and will leave Friday for Barbados. From there they go to Trinidad and Tobago.

New Mining Regulations Not Tough Says Strachan

VICTORIA (CP) — Opposition leader Robert Strachan said Sunday the government's proposed new mining regulations are not as strict as the New Democratic Party had hoped.

Mr. Strachan said he spent the weekend comparing the proposals with legislation already in effect in parts of North America and found them not as tough as have been required elsewhere.

"It leaves too much leeway in the hands of the minister of mines," he said.

The regulations, introduced in the legislature Friday by Mines Minister Frank Richter, would require all mining operators to post performance bonds of up to $500 an acre to cover land reclamation costs.

Fines up to $1,000 a day would be imposed if the company refused to reclaim mined land. The money would be used by the government to do reclamation.

"It doesn't adequately spell out what is required. It gives too much power for the government to apply the regulations as it sees fit."

Liberal leader Dr. Pat McGee said he hadn't reached any definite conclusions on the proposals nor would he predict how the six Liberals will vote on the legislation.

"On initial study, I am quite impressed and approve of the methods the government has chosen in developing the legislation."

Students Won't Form Own Political Party In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's students will probably knock on doors, distribute literature and talk with candidates during the next provincial general election but won't form their own political party, the B.C. Union of Students decided Sunday.

At the end of a two-day meeting hosted by the University of B.C., delegates from eight universities and colleges rejected a proposal to form a party by Robb Walsh, student president of Simon Fraser University in suburban Burnaby.

Mr. Walsh said students could keep their "political virginity" and avoid being called tools of other parties by forming their own political group to oppose the Social Credit government's education policies.

What action students will take during the election will be decided at the next meeting of BCUS, to be held at Selkirk Junior College near Castlegar on March 22, UBC student president Dave Zirnhelt said.

Representing 40,000 students, delegates condemned the destruction last week at Sir George Williams University in Montreal. Mr. Zirnhelt said that while students have some legitimate grievances at some universities, legitimate means of redress must be used.

Mr. Zirnhelt also called on the government to release its forthcoming report on higher education to the public for discussion and suggestions before any action is taken in the legislature.

BCUS suggested establishment of a single agency to coordinate financial and academic planning for B.C.'s universities, colleges and institutes of technology.

The agency should be representative of the academic and lay communities, including students, and independent of the government.

Government Workers Shelve A Planned Strike Vote

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Government Employees Association Sunday shelved a planned strike vote on the issue of wages and collective bargaining, pending details of the allocation by the provincial government of $6,500,000 in wage increases. BCGEA secretary Ned O'Connor said the increase could break down to between 7 1/4 and 8 1/4 per cent for about 16,000 civil servants.

BOUGHT FOR $84

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — The services of Jack Davis, federal fisheries minister, are being "bought" for $84 a day, according to a report in Saturday night news. The report said Davis was "bought" for $84 a day for a dinner for 12 people at the West Vancouver Band Association.

CLEARING STARTED

CHANNING (CP) — Forestry crews have begun clearing more than 9,000 acres of timber along 42 miles of the Kootenay River in preparation for the 1972 completion of Libby Dam north of Montana. The dam will create a large artificial lake for recreation purposes on the international border.

OIL LEASES TOPS

VICTORIA (CP) — Oil and gas exploration and production in British Columbia contributed more revenue to the provincial treasury in 1968 than any other resource industry, said J. C. Ebbs, retiring chairman of the board of the B.C. division of the Canadian Petroleum Association. He estimated 1968 revenues from the sale of oil and gas rights, rentals and royalties to be $36,600,000.

CLC Lashes At Federal Housing Study

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress lashed the federal government housing study today for clamping a lid on construction of large, public-housing projects until the subject can be reviewed.

In its annual brief to the cabinet, the CLC termed the public-housing proposal the "most surprising and objectionable" of all of the recommendations.

"The people in our lower-income brackets need decent housing now, and for the foreseeable future public housing is their major hope. We have no disagreement with the research project but we cannot allow the poor to stagnate in slums and hovels until other viable alternatives can be discovered."

Some other recommendations were "completely inappropriate" and "less offered immediate aid in the most urgent areas."

The CLC recommended adoption of these points:

—Creation of a department of housing and urban affairs with a full-time minister. This would aid planning and "serve as a focus for the demands, proposals and complaints of the public."

—Assembly and serving of lands by municipalities with the aid of federal loans. Taxation of the profits from land sales would further curb speculation.

—Elimination of federal and provincial sales taxes on building material to bring about an immediate, substantial reduction in housing costs.

The CLC opposed freeing the interest rates for National Housing Act-approved loans. Instead, it suggested lowering rates.

ROCKET EXPLODES

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Curtis Tompkins, 16, of North Vancouver was in good condition today after suffering an eye injury Saturday night when a home-made rocket exploded near his home. He turned around to check the rocket after it failed to ignite and it exploded sending a particle into his eye.

MODERATE ELECTED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Students at Vancouver City College elected a moderate, Erwin Epp, as student president in an election called after student council members resigned to make way for a new constitution. He defeated Lyle Osmondson, president of the local Students for a Democratic University, by 129 votes.

HOUSING OPENED

NANAIMO (CP) — Laurie J. Wallace, deputy provincial secretary, Saturday opened the $130,000 senior citizens' low-rent housing development. He commended the Mount Benson Royal Canadian Legion for its efforts in working for the 12-unit development.

SFU Board To Probe Incidents

VANCOUVER (CP) — A member of the Simon Fraser University board of governors said Sunday the board will probably investigate reports of harassment and intimidation of five faculty members who opposed radical elements on the suburban Burnaby campus.

"It's only sensible that we look into it," said Jack Diamond. "This is supposed to be a free country. What are we, a bunch of gangsters?"

Mr. Diamond commented following disclosure by the five SFU professors that they were either threatened or intimidated after going against radicals in the university's political science department.

Dr. D. C. Bettison, former head of the department, said a series of telephone threats against him were made to his wife. The threats ended when he quit as department head.

Professors R. P. Srivastava, Roy Carlson, Phillip Hobbler and A. H. Somjee also revealed they were harassed and treated vindictively by fellow faculty members because they wouldn't go along with the radical majority.

Richard E. Lester, chairman of the board, said it is possible the matter will be raised at Thursday's meeting although it is not on the agenda.

Mr. Lester said the board was aware of the threats against Dr. Bettison shortly after they occurred in April and May of 1968, but he declined further comment.

Double Agent Worth Three

BONN (Reuters) — Master-spy Heinz Felfe, Russia's top double agent in West Germany since the Second World War, has been exchanged for three students jailed in the Soviet Union for political offences.

Felfe, 51, was traded at a secret rendezvous after serving six years of a 14-year sentence imposed after his conviction for treason.

He worked undetected for Moscow for a decade while employed by the West German government as a senior counter-intelligence official.

A brief government statement Friday night said Felfe was exchanged for Walter Naumann, 32, Peter Sonntag, 29, and Volkmar Schnitzhauser, 33, all serving political prison terms in the Soviet Union.

The statement did not say where the swap took place or how it was arranged but informed sources said the rendezvous was somewhere along the Czechoslovak or East German border.

Felfe, who betrayed at least 95 West German intelligence workers during his career as a double agent, smuggled 10 or 12 spy reports out of his prison cell even while he was awaiting trial in 1963.

Sometime This Year — From Kelowna to Atlantic Ocean Saga

As far as Gordon Jennens knows, he doesn't have a lot of Viking blood in him.

But that's where the similarity starts, rather than ends. With a little help and a lot of "intestinal fortitude" the Jennens of Kelowna are going to build and sail a replica of the most seaworthy of crafts ever built.

The Jennens' are in the final stages of making a dream come true. With his family faithfully at his side, Gordon Jennens decided to build a replica of a Viking ship and to make a voyage, supposedly much the same as L'Anse aux Meadows.

The construction site is a long wooden shed outside Kelowna, on a piece of lakeshore property owned by the British Columbia department of highways, has been classified by some as an eyesore. What really amazes all who visit is the beauty and precision of the hand-crafted vessel which is inside.

Mr. Jennens' Viking ship (13 feet wide and 60 feet long) is not just some preposterous pastime or hobby—it's Mr. Jennens' entire life at present.

Mr. Jennens is not alone in his dream. His family participates 100 per cent. The children have little or no other life.

WHOLE FAMILY
Mr. Jennens says his entire family is wrapped up in the project. Even his house is cluttered with objects regarding the ship and voyage. The children spend all their spare time helping their father attain his dream—which started in 1945. Mrs. Jennens spends most of her time making costumes for the journey. The entire garb is made with precision and every minute detail has to coincide with those the actual Vikings wore.

The Jennens have been ship-building for a living for the past three years—and they intend to sail their vessel this summer. On the ocean.

"We're not really nuts," Jennens says, "but we like a challenge and we're going to do it—come hell or high water."

The Jennens intend to sail their vessel from the southwest tip of Green Island to the ruins of a Viking settlement at L'Anse aux Meadows on the northern tip of Newfoundland. They will reconstruct the famous sagas of the Vikings' voyages from Vinland.

MANY INTERESTED
They will have a crew of 30 and have been swamped with applications. Mr. Jennens intends to train all those who travel with him—in the actual waters once sailed by the Vikings.

Mr. Jennens, through intensive studies of actual Viking graveyards, found that the average Viking attained a height of only five feet three inches. He says, most of his applications have come from men over six feet tall. Many people fail to realize the Vikings were an extremely short race.

The entire project began when Gordon Jennens, his wife Sylvia and their two daughters and two sons wandered from British Columbia to California gathering oak for the ship.

At Easter, 1968, the family cut six oak trees from a rifle range in California and trucked the 21 ton of logs to Kelowna. In the fall, they went on another tree-cutting trip along the West Coast. In all, they gathered nearly 50 tons of oak. The ship will weigh only 6½ tons—the other 4½ tons of wood will have been carved away.

TWO WEEKS
The family takes two weeks to lay one strake of planking. The planks are held by 3,000 hand-forged rivets.

Mr. Jennens' prized possession is a pine dragon head which he spent two months roughing and two months carving while recovering from an appendicitis operation. The dragon head is based on ones on a ninth century Viking ship and the Bayeux tapestry.

Mr. Jennens, to assure authenticity, has made three trips to Scandinavian museums and universities and continues to correspond with their historians and archeologists. With all the information he acquired, Mr. Jennens decided his ship would have 24 oars and a tough wooden sail with stripes or crosses sewn on by hand.

His accuracy is overwhelming. He had a local lumber firm bulldoze some spruce trees instead of cutting them so he could use the roots to lace the planks to the ship's framework (which made the bottom flexible enough to withstand the pounding seas). He copied the Vikings in every fashion he could.

He treated the spruce roots in soda and oak ash, then boiled them until they were as strong as leather. He boiled all the oak to season it.

He shaped the ship's ribs from oak branches. Where the planks overlap, he packed animal hair to mix with pine tar. (Another one of the Vikings' ingenious methods). He has done all this with the use of hand tools and for speed he has used the occasional power tool.

The building of this replica of an age gone by has attracted tourists from afar. The nearest estimate of the number who have viewed the ship ranges from 20,000 to 30,000. People have come from as far as Stockholm and Poland. Mr. Jennens said until completion of the ship, no more people will be allowed to view it because his work could fall behind schedule. Jennens had other sources of revenue besides the admission charges, but he had to mortgage himself to the hilt; so far he estimates he has invested up to $60,000 in his ship.

Jennens, a 46-year-old native of Kelowna has a red lined, weathered face and hard blunt hands and he is of Danish descent.

Mr. Jennens' love for shipbuilding began at the age of six when he built his first raft. He has progressed through to making racing shells and a replica of the Santa Maria.

Somewhat, Mr. Jennens has been able to communicate his fanatical enthusiasm to his wife and children. He cannot explain his enthusiasm, but he claims some people think he is a little nuts.

SELECTIVE
In selecting his crew, he wants each one to be sincere. He wants nothing at all to do with publicity seekers or anyone who will not do his share of the work. He said he needs men with a love for adventure.

Mr. Jennens, when the ship is completed, will haul it across the nation on its side in a special trailer to get Canadian interest in his venture. He will then have it towed across the Atlantic to Greenland.

He claims his intended route is a mile more expensive than sailing through the Panama Canal but he said when you have invested all this money, you are quite anxious to get the show on the road and to have public support of your venture.

The actual sailing trip will be about two weeks. (This will not include the time needed for training the crew). There will be nothing aboard that could be considered a modern convenience. It will be a fortnight of following the stars, and sailing as the wind blows, with the eventual hope of landing in Newfoundland at the point in which chairs of Viking origin have been located.

Jennens needs financing for this of course, and he is counting on support from Canadian and perhaps Scandinavian companies. He now feels he has achieved enough backing to aid his project to completion but still feels he could use more.

Before he received all the response, Mr. Jennens had intentions of approaching the federal and provincial government for financial aid. He said although the response by the public has been stupendous, he needs more financial assistance for the voyage itself.

UNCERTAIN
After he completes his ship and voyage, there can be no telling what Mr. Jennens and family have in store for the future.

While the tours were being conducted at the construction site, the Jennens thought they would like some public opinion on their project so they left a journal available for comments. One Calgary resident aptly summed up the feelings of most, "A great undertaking to relive a glorious and forgotten part of our history. Canada's history will not be forgotten so easily—good luck."

SITE WORK HAS BEGUN

are checking the details. Men and equipment are expected to resume construction soon. The project will cost in excess of $500,000 and is expected to be open for business in the spring. The store will have the second largest one-floor sales area in the B.C. Woolworth chain, about 33,250 square feet. The length of the counters will exceed one mile. The Woolworth company operates 288 stores in Canada, 27 in B.C., also 27 Woolco stores, two in this province.

POLICE COURT

Process Of The Law Can Have Some Humor

By DOUG MacDONALD
Courier Staff

"Order in the court; I declare this court open in the name of Her Majesty the Queen; magistrate D. M. White presiding."

With these words, the daily job of dealing out justice in Kelowna begins in the police administration building courtroom.

Before the bench pass an amazing variety of people charged with an equally large variety of offences, ranging from leaving their cars unattended with the motor running to fraud and sometimes murder.

The great majority of people charged, however, have little or no knowledge of how the court operates, their rights or even how to address the magistrate.

Magistrate White has been called everything from "your honor" to "your majesty." One defendant decided to take possession of the whole proceedings and addressed the magistrate as "my honor."

The correct title is "your worship," or "sir."

TOO MUCH TV
The most common one is "your honor," apparently the influence of too much American television.

Another problem the court has is bringing forth a plea of "guilty" or "not guilty" from defendants. Some people are not sure which way to plea. So pleas such as "well, guilty, I am, but not really because..." are entered.

Others say guilty under the misconception that this will speed the proceedings and cost less in the end.

And pleas of "I might as well plead guilty because you're going to convict me anyway" are not uncommon.

The RCMP court prosecutor, Const. Jack Brownfield, points out that even though people are ignorant of the ins and outs of the court, their rights are jealously guarded.

"The important thing is that these people really know in their hearts if they're guilty or not," he claims; the court takes care of the rest.

NOT GUILTY
For instance, if a person is not co-operative and refuses to enter a plea, the plea of "not guilty" is automatically registered.

The magistrate always takes time to explain exactly how a trial is conducted to people who choose to act as their own defence.

D. M. WHITE
... your majesty

Some people get rattled by the official-sounding technicalities and rigid routine of a trial. For example, in a charge, Kelowna is not enough; it has to be "Kelowna, County of Yale, Province of British Columbia."

Actually, trials are quite simple. You are charged with an offence. If you plead not guilty, you are entitled to a trial. Inevitably the trial will be set over for a week or more while the Crown assembles its evidence and witnesses.

When your "day in court" arrives, you will find yourself facing a representative of the B.C. attorney-general, usually the RCMP prosecutor, but if the charge is serious, one of Kelowna's Crown counsels.

CROWN FIRST
The Crown presents its case first, calling witnesses and introducing evidence. You have a chance to cross-examine each of the Crown's witnesses.

But you cannot, at this point introduce evidence. You may only ask the witness questions.

When the Crown's case is finished, you may either enter a defence or ask that the case be dismissed because of insufficient evidence. Your advantage is this: the charge against you has to be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. Even if you ask that the case be dismissed and are turned down, you still have a chance to continue with your defence.

Your own defence can consist of calling witnesses (who may be cross-examined by the Crown), introducing evidence or making a statement under oath—and being cross-examined yourself.

SUMMARY
When all this has been completed, both sides make (if they like, and they invariably do) a summation, or closing statement.

Often the magistrate will adjourn the case while he considers the evidence, and when he hands down his decision (often giving his own interpretation of the evidence) each side may again make a statement if the plea is guilty. Your statement will undoubtedly be to ask for the minimum penalty.

If you are charged by police with an offence and decide to defend yourself, you would be wise to get a copy of the act under which you are charged—the Criminal Code of Canada, the provincial Motor Vehicle Act, the federal Narcotics Control Act, fish and game regulations, Income Tax Act and so on.

Read the section under which you are charged carefully to see if you really are guilty and discover what the Crown has to prove beyond a doubt.

Take a pencil and paper with you, and don't worry—the old adage is true: you are innocent until proven guilty.

Home Rest For Mayor

Mayor R. F. Parkinson will be allowed to attend to light duties this week, his physician said today.

Dr. George Athans said the mayor was released from hospital Thursday and is now resting at home.

The mayor was taken to hospital a week ago Saturday suffering from a suspected cardiac irregularity, but after a five-day rest was released.

"He was feeling pretty rough when he was admitted," Dr. Athans said today, but said the mayor is generally in good health now. "He did not say when Mayor Parkinson would be back in his office at city hall."

Theft At Stations Solved By Police

A series of break-ins and thefts at Central Okanagan service stations has ended with the conviction of a Kelowna youth on three counts of breaking and entering and theft.

Edward Rempel was remanded today in magistrate's court to Friday while a pre-sentence report is prepared. He also faces sentence on a previous conviction of breaking and entering in Winfield. He pleaded guilty to all three charges today.

Rempel stole $20 in cash from Junction Service Ltd., Vernon Road, Jan. 31; cigarettes from Morrison Auto Service, Pandosy Street, Feb. 8; and cigarettes from Woodlawn Service, Richter Street, Feb. 8.

In each case he broke into the buildings at night by breaking a window.

A Westbank man was fined $200 or two months in jail, the fine to be paid forthwith, for driving while suspended.

Carier Abel was arrested Saturday in Westbank, the same spot he tried to outrun a police car in October, 1968. The chase resulted in a six-month suspension of his licence.

Magistrate D. M. White said he doubted the man could find the money, but said he would impose the fine in any case.

The magistrate refrained from suspending a truck driver's licence today after the man pleaded guilty to having care and control of a vehicle while impaired.

Kenneth Cameron, Rutland, was found by RCMP early Sunday slumped across the front seat of a car parked along Highway 97 near the city. He was "belligerent," and kicked the police car while being arrested the court was told.

Magistrate White fined the man $200 but did not impose the usual suspension of licence after he was told that Cameron had received a good recommendation from his employer, and that the offence was partly the result of extreme fatigue after a long drive.

Area Municipalities Hire Negotiator

Kelowna and seven other Okanagan municipalities have agreed to jointly hire Vancouver labor relations expert R. S. S. Wilson.

The move follows Vernon's refusal to pay its share of the cost if Mr. Wilson is hired by the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association as originally planned.

At a special meeting held last week in Vernon, the OMMMA rejected without a vote an eight-point proposal submitted by Vernon. The municipalities then decided to go ahead with the original plan.

Under the agreement with Mr. Wilson, who is disposing of most of his business interests in Vancouver and moving to Kelowna, elected officials and administrators will not be involved in direct negotiations.

The municipalities will pay Mr. Wilson a yearly retainer of $20,000 for three years.

He will negotiate contracts with the CUPE, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the International Association of Fire Fighters.

He will also undertake a job evaluation study in the eight municipalities, as outlined in the agreement reached with CUPE in December.

Municipalities involved include Coldstream, Kamloops, Kelowna, Oliver, Penticton, Village of Salmon Arm, District of Salmon Arm and Summerland. Osoyoos, Enderby and Peachland were not represented at the meeting.

Revelstoke felt it could not make a decision at the time.

Approximately 75 per cent of the population in the Okanagan Mainland area is involved.

The three major cities, Kelowna, Penticton and Kamloops, are working towards a common contract.

The eight-point proposal put forward by Vernon has the initial premise that the present negotiating committee be disbanded.

Ald. Carl Romer of Vernon said this means, in effect, that Mr. Wilson, a member of the present committee, would have no further connection with the association unless it was on a daily basis as he was employed during last year's negotiations.

"It means no $20,000 a year Wilson," Ald. Romer commented, adding, "Santa Claus himself couldn't have got a better deal" than the contract terms demanded by Mr. Wilson.

Another key proposal involves arranging for a common consultant "who would be available to any member municipality requiring same at a fee and condition agreed upon by the committee and the consultant in question, the cost of such consultant to be borne by the municipality requiring same."

The committee referred to would be a seven-member labor relations committee consisting of four representatives from the larger cities and three from districts and villages. They would all be elected persons.

The proposal stipulated that until an area agreement is reached, "each municipality is free to negotiate its local agreements with its local unions" with the advice of the labor relations committee, available.

Costs of the committee, which Vernon estimated would be nominal, would be shared by all OMMMA members on a per capita basis.

Delegates to the January meeting were advised that Mr. Wilson was paid $22,800 for his services last year and additional negotiating expenses amounted to $6,250. He was paid on the basis of $100 a day plus expenses.

Prior to this week's meeting, both Enderby and Lumby had voted to reject the OMMMA proposal to hire Mr. Wilson.

Most Bare Some Ice

Highway 97 in the Kelowna area was bare with some black ice, in the department of highways road report of 7:30 a.m. today.

Most roads in the province were reported to have black ice and slitting was in progress where necessary. Roads affected by these conditions were Cache Creek-Revelstoke, Rogers Pass, Hope-Princeton highway, Princeton-Penticton and the Vernon-Lumby-Cherryville road.

The Monash Pass road had compact snow and ice and winter tires or chains were necessary as they were on most roads in the province. The Kelowna-Beaverdell road was bare at lower levels with compact snow on the higher levels. Slicing was in progress.

SEEN and HEARD

The seasonal hazard of pot-holes has arrived toirk Kelowna and district motorists. Winter conditions which were tougher than usual have opened more holes and cracks in pavement than are normally seen this early in the year. One particularly bad spot is the Harvey Avenue-Pandosy Street intersection. A bit less speed and more caution is the best way to avoid front end damage, until road repair crews make their rounds.

SUNNY weather is forecast for Kelowna Tuesday. Cloudy with a few sunny periods today and winds should be light. The low tonight and high Tuesday for Kelowna are forecast for 32 and 40. The high and low recorded in Kelowna Saturday were 37 and 28 with .03 inches of rain and snow, while on the same date one year ago, the high and low were recorded at 36 and 15. The high and low recorded in Kelowna Sunday were 38 and 25 with a trace of snow, compared with 35 and 18 on the same date one year ago.

Welfare Council Suggests Guaranteed Annual Income

A guaranteed income for all Canadians as a basic social right—the ultimate in the welfare state—is recommended by the Canadian Welfare Council in a special report published recently.

The review of federal and provincial social security and social service programs also recommended such things as substantial increases in family and youth allowances, increases in the flat-rate old age security pensions equal to the full amount of consumer price increases rather than the two per cent maximum annual increase for consumer price increases allowable under present legislation, that hospital insurance and medicare costs be financed out of general revenues rather than through the payment of premiums and that the ultimate goal of medicare be its extension to cover such things as dental and optical care.

The report urges the federal government to give top emphasis to the development of some type of guaranteed income in its development of social security programs, with more direct social assistance programs confined to a back-up role for special needs.

The council makes no specific recommendations in what the minimum income should be except that it should be related to need. It does suggest, however, that implementation should be through various stages.

While the ultimate aim would be a guaranteed income for everyone, it would be appropriate, the council suggests, to first aid special groups like the elderly or assist in the cost of raising a family through family allowances.

The guaranteed annual income, which could be instituted through a negative income tax, obviously has advantages over other forms of social programs in that it does not involve investigation of need or means, and would make entitlement and payment a matter of routine.

The council's report bases its 38 recommendations on what it terms the social right of Canadians—a sort of bill of social rights.

These, in brief, are the proposals for guaranteed income. How will they work out? There will be much disagreement on this point. In an article on the financial page of the Toronto Globe and Mail the financial writer for the paper says in part:

"It is I suggest, a cruel deception to suggest to the public, then, that the government in any way can guarantee sufficient income as a right for all Canadians. There is no way by which the government can guarantee that taxes plus borrowing can produce, any certain amount of revenue.

"It can of course, undertake to print what is called money and distribute it any way it pleases, but it cannot guarantee acceptability. It can, if it pleases, attempt to sequester all goods produced and divide those up among citizens.

"But even if it were to resort to forced labor, it could not guarantee that production would be sufficient to provide each individual with a sufficiency. Even a superficial glance at the world's hungry nations demonstrates the impossibility.

"The idea that the first line of defence against lack of income, or insufficient income, is a handout is not entirely new in government, nor indeed among many who undertake to advise governments on how they should operate.

"For a good many years in this and other countries there has been an ivory-tower belief that it is possible for a society to increase its wealth by increasing its spending. That is based upon a narrow reading of the economic theory that consumption automatically results in increased production and increased wealth.

"The advocacy of a program guaranteeing incomes whether or not the money required can be obtained will not improve confidence, but is more likely to undermine it still further. That, in turn, is likely to reduce business activity and result in a reduction of income-earning opportunities. Instead of guaranteeing adequate incomes for all, it is more likely to produce less income for both government and individuals."

Wife Has No Wish To Stop Drinking

By DR. GEORGE THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson:

What are the best ways to help my wife overcome or try to get the courage to overcome her drinking?

She has no desire to stop. She says there isn't any problem, but I know she drinks quite a bit every day and replaces what she uses and also uses a great deal of mouthwash to try to hide the odor.

She will drink anything from wine to beer, whisky, vodka, anything.

She deliberately tries to start trouble, and she uses that as an excuse to drink more, yet she doesn't drink in front of me.

We have two children, 10 and 14, and although our faith prohibits divorce, from time to time she says she is going to get a divorce or a separation. I am faithful to her, and always have been, and will continue to be. That is why I ask you for any help you can give me. Will you please help me?—T.K.

It has come to be a familiar remark that "alcoholism is an illness" or "an alcoholic is sick."

And it's true—but it doesn't follow that a physician necessarily has a ready answer for curing alcoholism.

Granted, a doctor can help an alcoholic who wants to be helped. Some physicians specialize in this problem to a considerable extent. There are, in addition, alcohol clinics in many large cities.

But none of them can do much if anything until an alcoholic is ready and willing to be helped. That means the drinker has to admit to himself (or herself) that he can't handle his problem alone and he needs help.

In the case of T.K.'s wife, her threats of divorce or separation may or may not be genuine. There may or may not be some sort of marital discord which lies behind her drinking. It might be worthwhile to greet the next such remark with a suggestion of going to a marriage counselor.

But if that's just an excuse she is using, and it is necessary to dig elsewhere and deeper for the cause of the drinking, there is no ready suggestion I can make.

Alcoholics Anonymous has a related organization called Al-Anon, which is made up of wives, children or husbands of alcoholics. (There are even "stag" chapters in some places, groups of men with alcoholic wives.)

You can get in touch with Al-Anon through Alcoholics Anonymous. Or in some places Al-Anon has its own office listed in the phone book.

These Al-Anon people can share a great deal of know-how in leading a stubborn drinker to ask for help.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A year ago we tried everything for my 11-year-old daughter's bad breath with no results. One day I kissed her goodby and her breath didn't smell. I asked her about it, and she said she had brushed her tongue. If she forgets, I send her back to do it. No bad breath. Hope this will help someone.—Mrs. L.S.

Thanks, it might. But since there are many different causes for bad breath, it won't help everybody. Spaces on the surface of the tongue may retain debris that causes the odor.

Inflexibility Charges Tory Leader

TORONTO (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield says Prime Minister Trudeau is using constitutional problems as an excuse for deferring action on problems of more immediate urgency such as housing, pollution and transportation.

Accusing the federal government of inflexibility in its constitutional stance, Mr. Stanfield told the Conservative Council of Metropolitan Toronto Saturday that Ottawa is postponing action on urgent problems by saying they can only be solved with a new constitution.

He described Mr. Trudeau's attitude as "incredible for a national leader" and accused him of preaching "dangerous nonsense."

Mr. Stanfield said the prime minister's suggestion that the problems facing cities must wait for the appearance of a new constitution is unrealistic and unfair.

Some Jargonese
Upon The Hill

OTTAWA (CP) — Here is some of the latest Parliament Hill jargon, or jargonese as it is called here.

High-speed vertical transportation system: An elevator—Transport Minister Paul Hellyer.

Greater reward in the market place: A price increase—Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson.

Second-best solution: Compromise—Prime Minister Trudeau.

Counter-productive: Negative—Mr. Trudeau.

Explicite: To make explicit—Charles Drury, treasury board president.

Inelectable: No choice—Mr. Drury.

Conceptualize: Get an idea—John Lundgrin, Conservative MP for Gander-Twillingate.

Sources of other pieces of jargon are harder to identify but are probably bureaucratic:

Feasible: Not feasible.

Implementation input: Money.

Decasualization: Employment of fewer part-time workers.

Fatigue levels: How tired are you.

Financial disequilibrium: Chaos.

On Jan. 27, 1969, Herb Gray, parliamentary secretary to Finance Minister Edgar Benson, told the Commons (Hansard, page 4855):

"Let me say at once, Mr. Speaker, this should not necessarily mean that ultimately on balance if it may appear that implementation of such a proposal is the best thing to do under the circumstances, that such a decision should not be made."

On Jan. 15, Defence Production Minister Don Jamieson, responsible for public printing, gave the Commons a figure showing that the daily public circulation of Hansard, the official record of debates, has fallen to 15,833 from 16,100 last spring.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Feb. 17, 1881 . . .

The Mad Trapper known as Albert Johnson was shot dead by RCMP 37 years ago today—in 1932—after a two-month manhunt. He was reported by Indians for interfering with their traps and shot at police when they visited his cabin at Rat River, N.W.T. After a siege, he escaped in 45-below weather and travelled to the Yukon on foot, killing Const. Millen en route. He was tracked on foot and by air and wounded a soldier before being shot. His real name and history were never known.

1919—Sir Wilfrid Laurier died in Ottawa.

1953—Britain announced it would make H-bombs.

Second World War . . .

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1944—house-to-house fighting continued at Cassino, Italy: A German plane bombed behind German lines south of Rome in the greatest force yet in the Mediterranean theatre; the United States war department disclosed the sinking of an Allied ship in European waters with the loss of 1,000 U.S. soldiers.

CANADA'S STORY

Canada Called Fraud When CPR Organized

By BOB BOWMAN

It was on Feb. 17, 1881, that the present Canadian Pacific Railway Company was formed with George Stephen as president; Duncan McIntyre, vice-president; R. B. Angus and J. J. Hill as members of the executive committee. Donald A. Smith could not be on the board of directors because of his failure to support Sir John A. Macdonald in the railway scandal that forced the government to resign in 1873. However, Smith (Lord Strathcona) invested a great deal of money as a shareholder and actually drove the last spike in 1885.

What an undertaking it was to build a transcontinental railway in 1881. There were only four million people in all of Canada. Manitoba's population was 66,000 while British Columbia had only 24,000 people excluding the Indians. The U.S.A. had 40,000,000 people at that time.

Although leading Liberals opposed an all-Canadian route (Edward Blake spoke about "two streaks of rust across a wilderness") the Toronto Globe, a strong Liberal voice owned by George Brown said: "With the construction of the railway Canada will be populated by Englishmen; without it by Americans."

Although the federal government gave the CPR $25,000,000 and 25,000,000 acres of land, it was necessary for the company to raise money in Britain. That was difficult because a great deal of unfavorable propaganda circulated there. One paper warned about "the Canadian Dominion Bubble" and said that

British Columbia was a cold, mountain country not worth keeping; the settlement in Manitoba would not last; people were often maimed for life by frost-bite; Canada was Britain's most overrated colony, and a fraud that would burst like any other fraud.

Yet the first CPR train steamed into Winnipeg in 1881, and the line was completed to Calgary in August 1883. Land values soared like skyrocket especially in Winnipeg where a lot bought for $6,000 on Monday would be sold for $9,000 on Wednesday. Regin, Moose Jaw, Swift Current, and Medicine Hat quickly appeared on the map as the rails crossed the prairies.

OTHER EVENTS ON FEB. 17: 1693—French force from Canada battled English and Indians in Mohawk country in New York.

1759—General Wolfe sailed for Halifax to begin Quebec campaign.

1869—Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was founded.

1880—Clayoquot Indians of Vancouver Island were awarded gold medal by President of U.S.A. for saving crew of wrecked ship.

1919—Death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

1958—Right Honourable Louis St. Laurent retired from politics.

1960—Prime Minister Diefenbaker opened new National Gallery in Ottawa.

1965—Old Age Pension of $75 a month was made available at age 65 instead of 70.

Guyana Faces Another Big Fight Against Deadly Appetite Of Sea

GEORGETOWN (Reuters) —

Guyana, which is resisting claims on its territory by neighboring Venezuela and Surinam, faces a big territorial battle against a third power—the sea.

For more than 150 years the Atlantic has eaten away at most of the country's 270-mile coastline, threatening crops and communities, but the government has launched a 12-year plan to build and reinforce sea defences.

Britain, the World Bank and Guyana are combining financial resources to build 17,700 feet of sea wall along the coastline while reinforcing existing walls.

The ministry of works and hydraulics announced that the first phase of the sea defence scheme, which will cost about $17,000,000, will start in April.

Steve Narain, chief works and hydraulics officer, said recently that while Guyana's erosion is a serious problem it is not critical in any place.

About 90 per cent of Guyana's 700,000 population live or work along the coastal strip in the sugar cane and paddy fields.

In sparsely-populated areas, the government has fought a rearguard action against the encroaching sea.

Engineers built inexpensive earth dikes and when the eroding sea crumbled them, the engineers retreated 1,000 yards and built new ones.

PLAN TO FIGHT BACK

"But in the Georgetown area and where there is development right up against the sea wall the question of retreating does not exist," Narain said. "We must make a stand and fight back."

Much of the coastal plain is below high tide and an encroaching sea would swamp thousands of acres of sugar cane and rice—two of the country's main export crops—if it were to breach the sea walls.

Many of the walls were built after the British took over Guyana from the Dutch, but over the years they have crumbled or subsided.

Although it would seem that Guyana faces a perpetual battle with the sea, engineers hope that with better technical knowledge and methods of construction, the new sea defences will last between 75 and 100 years.

The greatest distance between any two points in the United States is from Elliott Key, Florida to Hawaii's Kure Island—a distance of 5,850 miles.

What Does France Want?

What is the government of France really aiming at in its efforts all of a sudden to establish close familial ties with the province of Quebec?

Is the object to protect Quebec's French Canadians from domination and absorption by Canada's English-speaking society?

Or is it because Quebec has a lot of rich mineral resources, including radium, which France would like to get its hands on?

It could very well be the latter, according to recent reports coming out of Paris. It may very well be that Quebec nationalists are being taken for a ride by their more sophisticated relatives in Europe.

The Toronto Star reports that a French cabinet minister let the cat out of the bag on France's state-operated television network several days ago.

The minister was Jean Lipowski, secretary of state for foreign affairs.

He told his French listeners that Quebec has the right to sign agreements with foreign countries in the important field of industry.

He went on to say that France is interested in Quebec partly for "its prodigious resources of the rare metals which are indispensable in the race for progress in the Twentieth Century." He mentioned uranium as a Quebec resource.

Actually, of course, Quebec has no rights to sign agreements with foreign countries other than in the field of culture and education, as specified in a Franco-Canadian treaty.

As far as uranium is concerned, Canada is most careful to restrict the handling of this resource. If France is going to such great lengths to woo Quebec only for its uranium and precious metals, it is wasting its time indulging in an exercise as futile as it is cynical.

Judy May Seek Party Leadership

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Paul Cosgrove said Sunday a closed provincial meeting of the party considered replacing Ontario Liberal Leader Robert Nixon.

One report said the former secretary of state, Judy LaMarsh, has been approached to contest the leadership at the provincial convention in Hamilton March 28-29.

Mr. Cosgrove, president of the Scarborough East Federal Liberal association and chairman of the meeting, said after the meeting that Miss LaMarsh could lead Ontario Liberals to victory in 1971 "with her hands tied behind her back."

She was reported to have been sent a letter a week ago by 17 Scarborough Liberals asking her to consider running against Mr. Nixon.

More than 50 Liberals were reported at the closed meeting to have criticized Mr. Nixon's support of the party's entry into municipal politics.

Mr. Cosgrove said Mr. Nixon was not invited to the meeting because "you don't invite the man whose shoes you are trying to fill to take the meeting away from you."

Syndicate Formed For Prospecting

TOKYO (Reuters) — A syndicate for prospecting mineral resources in Canada has been formed by Canadian, U.S. and Japanese mining and investment firms, the Nippon Mining Co. said today.

The Japanese firm said the syndicate named the Shinluka Syndicate, aimed at prospecting for copper and other mineral deposits in British Columbia for about one year at a cost of $175,000.

Of the total, nearly $90,000 would be supplied by the Japanese partner, Nippon Mining said. The remainder will be put up by four Canadian and American firms, it said.

This is the first syndicate of its kind to be created in Canada with Japanese participation.

Kelowna Man Wed In Oliver Church

Church of Christ the King, Oliver was the setting for the wedding of a Kelowna man on Feb. 8 at 4 p.m. when Patricia Marie Wadman, daughter of Mrs. Roseann Wadman, Oliver, became the bride of Leonard Bruno Skwarczynski of Kelowna. Rev. F. D. J. Cullen officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Michael Wadman, the bride chose a floor length, white chantilly lace over peau-de-soie gown, featuring lily-point sleeves and scalloped neckline. Back interest was created by a scalloped sweeping train caught with a lace bow. Her shoulder length, three tiered veil of nylon fell from a headdress of white satin trimmed with simulated pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses accented with light foliage and satin ribbons.

Kay Wadman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a knee length dress of light green brocade, accented with velvet trim emphasizing an empire waistline. She carried green tinted carnations. Her headdress was a simple sparkling tiara.

Rhonda Skwarczynski, sister of the groom, as flower girl was attired in an identical dress.

For receiving at the reception in Tuck's Cafe, Oliver, the bride's mother wore a dress of jade green featuring an empire waistline, with skirt of crepe and lace bodice and jacket to match. She wore beige accessories and a beige corsage completed her ensemble.

The groom's attendant was Darcy Ruck, Rutland and Walter Stewart of Oliver and George Skwarczynski of Kelowna were ushers.

The bridal table was centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with clusters of red roses and silver trimmed bells, effectively signifying the upcoming Valentine's Day, with red and white hearts artistically placed on the bottom and top tiers. Red and white candles flanked the cake. Mementos were presented to the bride attendants, the best man and the ushers. Fred Heyn was master of ceremonies.

After a honeymoon to points in the state of Washington, the couple will make their home in Rutland.

Out-of-town guests were: Rudolf Skwarczynski and family, Kelowna; Jack Skwarczynski and family, Rutland; Mr. and Mrs. D. Ruck, Rutland; Mr. and Mrs. A. Forcier, Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Mel Kirk, Red Deer, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. I. Weber, Osoyoos, B.C.

ANN LANDERS

Pursuit Of Money Can Sidetrack Happiness

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I started out together, poor but ambitious. After 20 years of hard work we are worth about a quarter of a million dollars. But Sam still works as if he had to earn next month's rent. He keeps expanding and getting into more deals when he should be taking life easy and enjoying what we have built.

I always worked in the business with Sam and raised a family, too. It was hard when the children were small but I didn't resent it because he needed me. Now I do resent it because we shouldn't have to work this hard. We've already made it. Sam and I haven't had a vacation in 10 years. Our success has made us slaves to the dollar.

My in-laws keep begging Sam to play some golf or buy a boat but he insists he enjoys his work the way some people enjoy a hobby.

I envy the modest families who have one car, a small house, and have to save all year to take a trip, tourist class. We are trapped by money and success. I feel so frustrated I want to cry. Any recommendations?—RICH BUT POOR

Dear Rich But Poor: Welcome to the Club. The only line missing from your letter is—"The kids never saw their father when they were growing up." Your husband is a compulsive worker and there is no known cure for it. But this can be both good and bad. It's good that Sam enjoys his work so thoroughly that he can't pull himself away from it. But it's bad because he is cheating himself and you, too. Please show him the letter which appears below. It might help open his eyes.

Dear Ann Landers: I never thought I would write to you but I find now I must. If I can prevent just one person from making the mistake I made it will be well worth the trouble it took to put this letter together. I am not a good writer.

My wife and I were married 45 years. We both worked hard and made more money than we could ever spend. She begged me to take her on a trip to Europe and other parts of the world we had only read about, but I was always "too busy". We missed weddings and Bar Mitzvahs and other happy family occasions because I couldn't leave the business.

When I reached my 62nd birthday, my wife pleaded with me to retire at least part time. But I wasn't sure anyone else could run the company and I stayed on. She tried again two years ago, but I couldn't see it.

Well, eight weeks ago I buried my wonderful wife and now I suddenly have plenty of time on my hands. The business doesn't seem important at all. When I'm not there things go along just fine. Even better. I realize too late that I made a terrible mistake. Now the money will be enjoyed by our children when it was really my beloved wife who should have had the pleasure from it.—REGRETS

St. Andrews Plans April Rummage Sale

The February meeting of St. Andrews' Afternoon Guild was held in the Parish Hall, Okanagan Mission, on Feb. 13, with a good turnout of members and three visitors. Regret was expressed that the bad weather and lack of parking space had made it necessary to cancel the white elephant tea which had been planned for Feb. 12.

After a discussion it was decided that the next event should be the rummage sale on April 23, opening at 2 p.m. in the Community Hall. It is hoped to have a plant sale and tea on May 7 at the home of Mrs. E. A. Graves, and a June tea on the 14th of that month.

The next meeting will be held in the parish hall, Lakeshore Road, Okanagan Mission, on March 13 at 2:30 p.m.

HITHER and YON

Mrs. A. S. Underhill of Kelowna was installed as president of the British Columbia Ladies' Curling Association at the annual banquet of the association following the provincial playdowns at Nelson recently. Accompanying Mrs. Underhill to Nelson were Mrs. Vern Cummings, Mrs. Peter Rattel and Mrs. Harold Long, all of Kelowna and Mrs. Aimee Beggs of Summerland, who is zone convener for the South Okanagan region. The provincial playdowns for 1970 will be hosted by the Kelowna Ladies' Curling Association next February.

Mrs. Harry Shyshka and son Jody of Nanaimo are visitors at the home of Mrs. Shyshka's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sproule, of Oyma.

The first of the Ladies' Dessert Bridge at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. in the clubhouse. Two similar functions last year proved to be very popular. Ladies are asked to bring their own tables, for a foursome, as well as cards and tallies. Make up a foursome and telephone the clubhouse at 762-2531 before Wednesday, as tables will be limited to 25 due to space limitations.

The regular Saturday night dance at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club will feature Johnny Deschner and his orchestra this week. Many members are enjoying these fun-time events at the club.

Eighty-five members of the Kelowna Newcomers' Club enjoyed the card party at the Capri Motor Hotel Friday night. Prizes were awarded to winners of the bridge, whist and cribbage sessions and lunch was served.

Mrs. Rodney S. Keller returned home recently from the prairies where she spent several weeks visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Keller of Penhold, Alta.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Palmer this week are Mrs. Palmer's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Near of St. Mary's, Ont. Meeting Mr. and Mrs. Palmer in San Bernardino, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Near accompanied them back to Kelowna Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer also spent some time in Phoenix, Ariz. and Santa Monica, Calif., during their four-week visit in the U.S.A.

T. S. McLaughlin returned home during the weekend from Borrego Springs, Calif., where he spent a two week golfing holiday with Vancouver friends.

Kinettes Support Meals On Wheels Driving Team Of Eight Pledged

The regular meeting of the Kinettes Club of Kelowna was held at the Capri Motor Hotel with vice-president, Mrs. W. Rutherford officiating.

Following dinner, Dr. G. N. Stewart was welcomed to the meeting. His topic was Sexual Education for Adolescents. After his main speech, Dr. Stewart held a very comprehensive discussion during which he answered various questions. Dr. Stewart's frankness and honesty, plus a thorough working knowledge of the subject was greatly appreciated by his listeners.

During the business portion of the meeting, Mrs. R. Jones reported a good profit on the sale of candy canes at Christmas.

The request of the Kinettes Club to cater to the Kinettes dinner on April 14 was accepted with enthusiasm. A motion to cater for the Kinettes Club dinner meeting on March 20 was approved, with Mrs. Fred Fowler named as convener.

A letter from the Kelowna Firemen thanking the members for cleaning stuffed toys for Christmas hampers was read and a letter of appreciation from the Sunnyvale School for the Christmas party for children was also read.

A letter from the Korean child sponsored through the Save the Children Fund was read.

Members decided to hold an Easter raffle, with Mrs. D. Follet appointed as convener. Mrs. C. Meckling reported on a meeting she attended regarding Meals on Wheels sponsored by the Kiwassa Club. Kinettes felt this project is one of the best to come forth in many years and therefore should be supported to the best ability. A driving team of eight members pledged to assist the Kiwassa Club in this project.

Mrs. W. Rutherford told the members that the senior citizens taxi service is continuing to function well and was particularly appreciated during the cold spell.

Mrs. N. Peters presented several suggestions for costumes for the district convention in Penticton in May. She asked for and received several volunteers to assist her.

Mrs. J. Watson offered to chair a skit committee for the Kinettes' spring zone meeting to be held in Vernon in the latter part of April.

The next general meeting will be held at Mountain Shadows on March 4, with a fun night of curling to follow dinner and business meeting. Mrs. Percy Tinker is convening this event.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Whinton were Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Gower formerly of Winnipeg, now residents of Richmond, B.C.

At present a patient in the Kelowna General Hospital is Mrs. Al Elhers of Minto Street. Friends in the community wish her a speedy recovery, and soon to return home.

Spending a few days in the community visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Neil is Mrs. Peggy Rice from 100 Mile House.

Glenna Todd left this week for Nelson where she will spend a few days visiting her sister, Maureen who is attending Notre Dame University in that city.

GRADUATES

Gail Mary Gwillim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Gwillim, 252 Melk Rd., Kelowna, was a recent graduate of a cabin attendants school held by CP Air at Vancouver International Airport. A graduate of Kelowna Secondary School, she will continue her training flying as a stewardess on the airline's five continent route.

Mrs. Walter Hall Re-elected Regent Dr. W. J. Knox Chapter, IODE

The annual meeting of the Dr. W. J. Knox Chapter, IODE, was held at the home of the acting secretary, Mrs. John Kropfmuller Tuesday. Reports of officers and conveners showed that the chapter had enjoyed another most successful year. A complete account of activities will appear in the Women's edition to be published later this month.

Mrs. Walter Hall will continue as regent for 1969-70. Other officers are: 1st vice-president, Mrs. W. T. Bulman; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Pegi Lee; secretary, Mrs. C. D. Ciley; treasurer, Mrs. M. V. dePuyffer; services at home and abroad, Mrs. Howard Williams; educational secretary, Mrs. Robert Ross; Echoes secretary, Mrs. V. E. Marty; and standard bearer, Mrs. Cecil Mothershead.

The chapter was pleased to present a 25-year service pin to Rosemary King in recognition of the fine work she has done for the chapter and the order.

A brief regular meeting followed during which Mrs. Robert Ross, educational secretary, read a letter from the chapter's adopted two-room school at Telegraph Creek. The school is extremely isolated and in need of the beginning library, magazines, games, etc., soon to be donated by the chapter.

Canadian Family Tree published by the Queen's Printer will be the chapter's study book for world affairs.

Members were reminded of the provincial annual meeting to be held at the Hotel Georgia, April 14, 15 and 16. At the March meeting a delegate will be appointed to represent the chapter in Vancouver.

The following conveners were chosen: membership, Mrs. W. T. Bulman; social, Mrs. Pegi Lee; world affairs, Mrs. P. C. McCallum; public relations, Rosemary King; immigration and citizenship, Mrs. Nancy Mackenzie; superfluity shop, Mrs. H. L. Trembley; superfluity shop treasurer, Mrs. R. D. Knox; white cane club, Mrs. Charles Pettman and the David Lloyd-Jones Home, Mrs. Gerald Imrie.

The next regular meeting will be held March 11 at the home of Mrs. Robert Ross, Lakeshore Road.

Joyce Hicks, Bride-Elect Honored At Community Shower

WESTBANK (Special) — The St. George's Parish Hall in Westbank was the scene of the lovely miscellaneous shower given to Joyce Hicks on Thursday evening. Joyce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Hicks of Lakeview Heights.

The hall had been decorated with hearts and red streamers and a Valentine tree, for the kindergarten for Valentine Day and was most appropriate for the occasion. A large box decorated in white with red hearts was filled and overflowing on the floor with wonderful gifts.

When the honored guest arrived she was seated behind the box of gifts with her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Hicks, her grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Drought and her mother-in-law to be, Mrs. O. Walker. Mrs. John Basham had made beautiful ribbon corsages which she pinned on the honored guests, pink roses for Joyce, mauve for her mother, a bi-colored corsage for her grandmother and yellow for Mrs. Walker. Mrs. Judy Ingram assisted with opening the packages until the arrival of Joyce's bridesmaid, April Thorber.

The gifts were passed around for all to see and admire, grandmother Drought seemed to enjoy opening the parcels as much as Joyce and while this was going on Mrs. Allan Bilsland took pictures of the happy event.

At the completion of opening the packages, Joyce and April donned lovely ribbon hats made with ribbons and bows off the parcels by Lorraine Schmidt and Sandra Warren. Joyce voiced her surprise and thanked everyone for the presents.

Fruit breads, tea and coffee were served by the workers. This was a non-hostess shower and enjoyed very much by all present.

Out-of-town guests were, Mrs. Grant Maddock, Mrs. John Schneider and Mrs. O. F. Charlton, all of Kelowna.

Mothers March Is Successful Effort

LAKEVIEW HEIGHTS (Special) — Mothers March collection for Lakeview Heights, Casa Loma Green Bay and Shambold has been most successfully completed with a total of $509.23. Mrs. Allan Bilsland, mother-in-charge of the Mothers March for this area wishes to thank all the mothers who so ably assisted, especially in view of the bad weather and bad roads.

Edmonton Skier Leads Jumping

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Don Grady of Edmonton amassed 194.4 points Sunday to win the jump event of the Canadian junior nordic skiing championships.

He ousted defending champion Dave Frippe of Ottawa, who placed 11th, with jumps of 130 and 127 feet. Chris Lang made of Oshawa, Ont., was second with 183.6 points.

Most agreed Frippe had the best style on his jumps of 132 and 135 feet but he fell when landing on the second jump.

Jim Gullikson, also of Edmonton, placed third with 188.0 while Jim Jickling of Wells, B.C., was fourth with 184.5. Saskatchewan's Gary Shynkaruk took fifth with 181.7.

Frippe's 16-year-old brother Kim finished sixth with jumps of 124 and 125 feet. The longest individual jump of 139 feet was accomplished by Tom Reaper of Montreal who placed 12th with 163.2 points.

In the combined jump and cross-country event, which included standings of Friday's 10 kilometer race, Bob Osness of Camrose, Alta., was first. He placed 15th in the jump and 11th in the cross country.

Ian Cunningham, also of Camrose, was second in the combined after being 14th in jumping and 18th in cross country.

Third was Charles Hazen of Sudbury, Ont., with a 19th placing in the jump and 16th in cross country.

Girls didn't compete in the jump Sunday, held on Tabor Mountain, 15 miles east of this central B.C. city, in a windless 28 degrees.

TEST TEAM DOMINATES

Skiers from the Yukon and Northwest Territories participating in the National Fitness Council's Territorial Experimental Ski Training program dominated the first two days of the meet.

TEST skiers took seven of the top 10 spots Friday in the 10-kilometre cross-country race. Highly-rated Malcolm Hunter of Ottawa, with a time 36:56.9 minutes upset defending champion Fred Kelly of Inuvik, N.W.T., who had a time of 38:22.4.

Canucks Still In Second After 5-0 Loss To Spurs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

First-place Portland Buckaroos and Vancouver Canucks, in second spot, both lost a game Saturday and remained five points apart in the race for the championship of the Western Hockey League.

Goaltending by Rocky Farr of last-place Denver Spurs gave them a 5-0 shutout of Canucks before 5,923 fans in Denver as third-place San Diego Gulls edged Portland 4-3 in San Diego.

Norm Johnson scored while goalie Farr stopped all Vancouver's 38 shots.

Scoring for Denver Sunday were John Rodger, with a pair, Will Martin and Larry Mavety. Warren Hynes tallied three times, twice in the first period, for San Diego as Len Ronson, Willie O'Ree and John MacMillan added singles.

Gulls' Saturday match saw Wes Hunt score on a power play and Al Lebrun fire in a single three minutes later to break a third-period 2-2 deadlock with Portland.

Al Nicholson and Warren Hynes also scored for San Diego. Portland's goals were scored by Larry Leach, Andy Heberton and Roger Bellerive, who sliced the final margin to 4-3 on a power play late in the third period.

In front of the largest WHL crowd this season — 13,398.

In one other Saturday contest, Seattle Totems dumped Phoenix Roadrunners 4-1 before 6,789 Seattle spectators.

On Sunday, Roadrunners reversed the situation, shutting out Totems 2-0 before a crowd of 4,623, seventh game on the road in nine nights for Phoenix.

Gulls stopped Denver's late season surge Sunday, edging the Spurs 6-4 before 2,371 fans in Denver.

In Denver's Saturday game, Don Martin, Gordie Vejprava, Jim Holdaway, Billy Carter and

Bob Charlebois scored both Phoenix goals Sunday night as Ken Broderick turned aside 31 shots for the 2-0 shutout of Seattle.

On Saturday, Totems ran up a 4-0 margin by the early minutes of the second period on goals by Ray Larose, Jack Michie and Gerry Leonard.

With Seattle short-handed, Milan Marekta collected the lone Phoenix marker with a 10-footer. Chuck Holmes closed out scoring with the final Seattle goal in the last four minutes of the game.

There are no games scheduled today, Tuesday, Phoenix hosts Vancouver.

Kings Move Into Contention By Tripping Providence 3-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Springfield Kings suddenly have become the hottest team in the American Hockey League and their playoff hopes have brightened as a result.

The Kings downed Providence Reds 3-1 Sunday night to move into a tie with Providence for third place and the final playoff position in the Eastern Division.

The victory was the sixth in seven games for the Kings and their second in as many nights against Providence.

In other games Sunday, Buffalo Bisons defeated Cleveland Barons 6-3. Rochester Americans blanked Baltimore Clippers 2-0 and Hershey Bears beat Quebec Aces 4-2.

Saturday, Springfield took Providence 5-3. Baltimore blanked Buffalo 3-0 and Cleveland trounced Rochester 6-1.

Scoring for Springfield Sunday were Marc Dufour, Billy Inglis and Mike Corrigan. Moe Mantha countered for Providence.

Dennis Kassian scored three times for Buffalo Sunday, all in the final period when the Bisons broke a 2-2 tie to move 18 points ahead of runner-up Cleveland in the Western Division.

Other Buffalo goals went to Pat Hannigan, Gerry Ouellette and Randy Legge. Connecting for Cleveland were Ken Kelly, Wayne Schultz and Reynald Comeau.

Al Smith made 30 saves for Rochester Sunday to gain the shutout. Billy McNeill and Red Armstrong picked up goals for the Americans.

Sharing Hershey goals Sunday were Gil Gilbert, Pete Ford, Roger Delorj and Mike Mahoney. Simon Nolet and Guy DuFour collected Quebec goals.

BROKE 2-2 TIE

Springfield struck for three goals in the final period Saturday to break a 2-2 tie.

Scoring for the Kings were Doug Robinson, Gary Croteau, Corrigan, Dufour and Inglis. Pierre Gagne, Adam Keller and Dick Meisner replied for Providence.

Minnesota Makes Two Trades For Both Present And Future

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League traded right-winger Wayne Connelly to Detroit Red Wings Saturday night for right-winger Danny Lawson.

The North Stars will receive a player to be named later to complete the deal.

It was Minnesota's second trade in two days. The North Stars dealt centre Andre Boudrias and defence man Mike McMahon to Chicago Black Hawks Friday night for forward Bill Oriban and defenceman Tom Reid.

"Our plan is to trade for both the future and the present at the same time," said Warren Blair, Minnesota general manager and coach.

The trade was announced by Blair and Detroit general manager Sid Abel one hour before the teams met Saturday night. The North Stars won the game 6-2. Connelly did not play. Lawson, who has been at Detroit's Fort Worth farm team in the Central League, was to join the North Stars this week.

Connelly led Minnesota in scoring last year, but was having an off-season this year with 14 goals and 16 assists.

Blair said Reid did not dress for the Saturday night game because of an injury.

Blair also called up centre Gary Dineen from Minnesota's Memphis team for Saturday night's game.

The North Stars gained 14 years in youth in the transactions.

Minnesota also will receive a player from Chicago at the end of the season.

SCHOOLGIRL CURLING COMPETITORS

No Agreement Reached In Television Contract

OTTAWA (CP) — After a week of wrangling, there still was no agreement Friday on television contracts which could be worth as much as $1,000,000 to the Canadian Football League.

The spectre of cable television cutting into game attendance still remained when the NFL annual meeting ended.

And it took the whole week to decide on a proper schedule and nobody was completely satisfied with the result.

But the week wasn't entirely wasted. A move was made toward streamlining the more than 35 player awards issued annually.

Officers were elected and rules were amended or clarified.

CFL Cup dates were set for 1970—either Nov. 28 or 29, with the site still to be decided. Vancouver and Toronto have bid for the game. This year it's Nov. 30, a Sunday, in Montreal.

Winnipeg was set as site of the semi-annual meeting in early June.

Sixty-seven players were drafted from Canadian colleges, most of whom won't even see training camp, but as Ken Preston of Saskatchewan Roughriders said:

"The calibre is improving. Last year there were 24 Canadian draft choices who made good in the CFL."

ELECT LEW HAYMAN

Lew Hayman of Toronto Argonauts was elected president of the CFL, taking over from Allan McEachern of British Columbia Lions. Dr. Neville Winograd of Winnipeg Blue Bombers was named vice-president.

Sam Berger of Ottawa Rough Riders, said there was hope the Riders, said there was hope the television contracts — worth $1,000,000 to the Western Conference last year — will be signed within "a short time."

The subject of cable television cutting into gate receipts was before the Canadian Radio-Television Commission and he said he hoped a decision on the CFL complaints would be brought down before the TV contracts were signed.

The clubs amended the punt-back rule—they didn't bring in blocking but they restricted the movement of the offensive players closing in on the receiver.

A proposal to widen the import restrictions was studied but the managers voted to keep the number of imports to 14 for each club.

Among the final business was the completion of schedules for exhibition games and the regular season contests.

There will be 18 exhibitions during July and 68 regular games split 40-28 between West and East.

Langley Girl Sharp At Achilles Games

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 15-year-old girl, jumping—backwards—higher than any girl of her age in the world, put some zip Saturday night into an otherwise dull Achilles indoor track and field games.

Debbie Brill of Langley, jumped 5-9½ for a Canadian native indoor record, one of a dozen marks set, but most of the 6,002 spectators had already left after disappointing showings.

World records aren't kept in age classes, but Miss Brill was 1½ inches ahead of the previous standard for 15-year-olds. She passed the 1964 Canadian mark of 5-9 set in 1964 by Diane Gerace of Tynil.

Using her patented "Brill Bend" leap, a style also used by U.S. star Dick Fosbury, Miss Brill attempted 5-10½ and narrowly missed on her last two attempts before a slim crowd.

FIRST RUNNING

Several of the marks were set only because the events were being run for the first time and there was little excitement. One Olympic star didn't perform and another was benten in his event.

The meet's big draw, Olympic long jumper Bob Meamon of El Paso, Tex., didn't compete. He said he was bothered too much by a pulled hamstring muscle suffered at the Tolegram games in Toronto Friday.

Olympic 200-metres champion Tommie Smith of San Jose, Calif., ran an effortless 30-metre race and was nipped by Jim Kemp of the U.S. Army. Both were timed in 36 seconds flat, well off the world mark of 33.9 held by Russian Boris Savchuk.

Most exciting race was the

WONT START EARLIER

Commissioner Jake Gaudaur summing up after the closed meetings, said there had been no proposal for pushing the schedule earlier into the year.

Such a move, while it might mean that fans would not be sitting through playoff games in the dead of winter, would have the clubs going into training camp in May.

The other alternative, to compress the schedule, was not feasible, he said. It's as tight as it will go now.

The controversy over scheduling caused Gaudaur at least one unhappy scene.

He gave the general managers of the nine league clubs a deadline to produce a schedule agreeable to all—they had studied more than 30 proposed schedules before coming to the meeting.

NHL LEADERS

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It apparently will take much more than one lost weekend to knock Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins out of the lead in National Hockey League scoring.

Held scoreless in two weekend games, Esposito still leads with 82 points on 36 goals and 56 assists.

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks, with a goal and three assists in two games, is second with 78 points on 37 goals and 41 assists.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings is third with 77 points on 33 goals and 44 assists. He had one goal Saturday and three Sunday.

Western Rinks Favored In Schoolboys Curling

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP) — Saskatchewan rinks, which have dominated the Canadian schoolboy curling championship since 1949, rate top position from summaries of past records and highlights of previous tournaments.

Bob Miller of Shellbrook, Sask., hopes to add to the list of nine titles in the 23rd annual competition which begins today.

Eleven rinks, including defending champion Ontario and a Northern Ontario foursome from Fort William, will take part in the five-day round-robin tournament.

Saskatchewan's domination started in 1949 when a Humboldt rink skipped by Jack Thompson took the title at Edmonton.

The province has captured eight other titles and has been the only representative to claim two undefeated championships, in 1952 when the late Gary Thode of Saskatoon won nine straight in a 10-rink tournament and in 1963 when Mike Lukovich of Speers had a 10-0 record.

The 1952 Saskatoon foursome recorded the only eight-ender in the history of the championship. Alberta has won five titles and Ontario three.

If western rinks, with 17 wins in 22 tournaments, can be considered the strongest, Saskatchewan faces a tough test in the first three draws of the 1969 event.

Miller meets Doug Ryan of St. John's Nfld., in today's first draw, then takes on Ontario skip George Cox of Renfrew in the second, and battles Manitoba skip Bill Henry of Winnipeg in the third round Tuesday.

Ontario, skipped last year by Bill Hope of Trenton, topped Saskatchewan 10-3 in a playoff at Port Arthur, and Manitoba placed third with a 7-3 record. Ontario finished with a 9-2 record and Saskatchewan was 8-3 for second place.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Ontario each picked up a bye in Thursday's play, the key to the competition because of the three scheduled draws.

Cox meets John Brady of Bridgewater, N.S., in the opening round, and plays Miller in the afternoon, then Claude Brouillette of Pointe Claire, Que., and Ron Lehotovara of Fort William in Tuesday's action.

The rinks arrived here Saturday and took part in a variety of activities Sunday. After practice sessions and opening ceremonies today, the rinks get down to business at the North Battleford Granite Curling club.

The first draw (Northern Ontario has the bye):

Grant MacDonald of Whitehorse, representing British Columbia, vs Quebec: Ontario vs Nova Scotia; Manitoba vs Alberta skip John Anderson of Sedgewick; Robert Stewart of Charlottetown vs Terry Norman of Moncton, and Saskatchewan vs Newfoundland.

The second round (Prince Edward Island has the bye):

Alberta vs New Brunswick, Saskatchewan vs Ontario, Quebec vs Newfoundland, British Columbia vs Northern Ontario, Manitoba vs Nova Scotia.

Broncos Remain In First After Two Weekend Games

Penticton Broncos remained unshaken atop the British Columbia Junior Hockey League standings on the weekend, despite a 5-4 drubbing at the hands of third-place Vernon Essos in Vernon Sunday.

The Essos took a 3-0 lead going into the third period and managed to contain the Broncos despite a two-goal performance by Ed Hayes who set a new league scoring record with his 54th and 55th tallies. A total of 1,300 fans saw the game.

The old record was 53 goals, scored by Gene Peacock in the 1966-67 season.

Other Bronco scorers were Reg Cherenko and Duane Pentland.

Scoring for the Penticton Essos were Gerry Vachon with two tallies, and Wayne Dye, Bob Mayer and Lawrence Quechuck with singles.

In a home game Saturday, Penticton scored a 6-1 victory over the Essos before 400 fans.

Hayes sparked his team in that contest, scoring two goals and equalling the record that he went on to break Sunday.

Also scoring for the Broncos were Robin Agur, Norm Jackson, Pat Laughton and Tom Gawrylets.

Vernon's only tally came from Wayne Dye late in the second period.

shots for the Cougars. Their total was padded out by singles from Shayne Webster, Scott Munro, Graham Brown and Dave Williams.

Rockets goalie Lorne Hudson, obviously upset by the massive Cougar scoring effort, grabbed Blais in the final minute of the second period and took a major penalty for fighting. The Cougar player received a minor.

In the third period, Hudson settled down and blocked a total of 22 shots.

Scoring for the Rockets were Don Stewart and Bill Tarnow with two tallies.

In New Westminster Sunday, Hudson blocked 43 Royals' shots many of them difficult ones, but let in several easy goals.

Larry Simon did his best to help Hudson out, scoring all three Kamloops goals.

Al Dorohoy, Mickey Wilson and Ken Love all scored twice for the Royals. Singles went to Al Knight, Wes Prior and Terry Thomson.

Little Wins Phoenix Golf

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gene Littler, winner of the $100,000 Phoenix open golf title with a record 263, now seeks to duplicate his consecutive Arizona victories of 10 years ago.

The 38-year-old from San Diego won the Phoenix Open a decade ago with a 268 and then captured the title at Tucson where this year's tournament starts Thursday.

"I'd say it was probably the best 72-holes I've ever played," said Littler of his tours over the 6,889-yard Arizona Country Club the course record with a nine-under-par 62 and he finished the 72 holes 21 strokes below par.

George Knudson and Al Balding, both of Toronto, were well back.

NORTHCOTT WINS

Ron Northcott of Calgary, who last March won the Canadian Curling Championship in Kelowna, has won another shot at the Brier Tankard. Northcott during the weekend won his fourth consecutive Alberta men's curling championship and a berth in the Brier next month in Oshawa. Three of the rink's four personnel are the same as performed here.

ICE FROLIC HELD AT ARENA

Colorful scenes greeted spectators at the 20th annual Ice Frolic Saturday at the Memorial Arena. Capacity crowds were on hand for both the afternoon and evening performances. The theme of this year's show was Alice in Wonderland. More than 100 skaters, all members of the Kelowna Figure Skating Club, took part in the presentation.

Colorful scenes greeted spectators at the 20th annual Ice Frolic Saturday at the Memorial Arena. Capacity crowds were on hand for both the afternoon and evening performances. The theme of this year's show was Alice in Wonderland. More than 100 skaters, all members of the Kelowna Figure Skating Club, took part in the presentation.

Capacity Crowds Follow Skating in Wonderland

Two capacity crowds followed Alice on her trip through Wonderland Saturday.

And, as amazed as Alice might have been by her journey through the dream country, those in the crowd who followed her must have been even more amazed by the excellence of the Kelowna Figure Skating Club production.

More than 100 skaters took part in the Ice Frolics, held in two productions at the Memorial Arena. The occasional skunk may have taken a tumble but overall, the quality of skating took the crowd completely by surprise.

The production was amateur only in its status—and highlights were darned close to professional.

Guests of the Kelowna Figure Skating Club were Marion Murray and Glenn Moore, both of the North Shore Winter Club in Vancouver.

The pair finished first in the junior pairs competition at the B.C. Figure Skating Trials earlier this year but turned down a chance to compete with the Canadian team in order to concentrate on their rigid training schedule.

Marion is 14 and Glenn 15. The couple performed in the second half of the show, after the completion of Alice in Wonderland. Marion later did a solo as did Glenn in the finale.

Alice was played by two different members of the Figure Skating Club. Diane Senger was first to take the role and it was she who followed the rabbit in the mystic surroundings of Wonderland.

Miss Senger is the KFSC novice ladies champion. To greet her on her arrival in Wonderland are fish of various colors, lobsters, sea horses and shrimp—all played by the younger members of the club.

Jacqueline George becomes Alice in the fourth scene, now small enough to enter the door to the garden of talking flowers. Here she sees butterflies, skunks and flowers of every possible description.

Alice continues her journey through the next several scenes, meeting all the famous characters of the storybook classic. She manages a narrow escape at the end when the Queen orders her head to be chopped off.

Pursued by an army of cards, Alice runs down the tangled paths of Wonderland—then suddenly awakes from her dream.

After intermission, there was varied entertainment by members of the club beginning with a presentation of dance moods.

Solists in the second half included Sandra Curtis, Barbara Curtis, Lynne Bassett, Pat Sullivan and Lynn Greenway.

The afternoon performance was dedicated to the Kelowna Teen Town.

Other than the pleasure of performing, there is little thanks for the skaters in a production like the Ice Frolics. But the greeting of the crowd must have brought many thrills to the skaters and producers of this year's show.

Club professional, and the person most responsible for Saturday's success, is Elsie D'Archangelo, Junior professional is Laurie Christie.

Gump Leads Canadiens Into Tie For Top Spot

By SCOTT BUTTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gump Worsley is flying again and so are his Montreal Canadiens team-mates.

The 39-year-old goaltender, idle for more than a month earlier this season because of bad nerves and an aversion to airplane flight, was at his best Sunday night.

Worsley, who has flown without incident since rejoining the team, gained his third shutout of the season as the Canadiens blanked Pittsburgh Penguins 4-0.

The victory moved the Canadiens into a first place tie with Boston Bruins in the Eastern Division and stretched their unbeaten streak to seven games.

In other games Sunday, Chicago Black Hawks trounced Boston 5-1, Gordie Howe scored three goals to lead Detroit Red Wings to a 6-3 triumph against Los Angeles Kings, New York Rangers downed Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2, Philadelphia Flyers edged Oakland Seals 3-2 and Glenn Hall helped establish a shutout record as St. Louis Blues blanked Minnesota North Stars 6-0.

Saturday, Montreal took Boston 3-1, Toronto downed New York 6-2, Minnesota crushed Detroit 6-2, Chicago defeated Philadelphia 3-0, St. Louis topped Los Angeles 4-1 and Oakland and Pittsburgh played to a 4-4 tie.

MADE 36 SAVES
A crowd of 5,882 at Pittsburgh saw Worsley make 36 saves in recording the 38th shutout of his NHL career.

Ralph Backstrom scored two goals for the Canadiens while single goals came from Dick Duff and Yvan Cournoyer. It was Cournoyer's 34th goal of the season, tops on the club.

The Black Hawks, in last place in the Eastern Division, won their second straight in a desperate attempt to squeeze into the playoffs.

Scoring for Chicago were Doug Mohns, Bobby Hull, Jim Pappin, Howie Young and Andre Boudrias. Fred Stanfield connected for the Bruins.

The Bruins, outshot 22-6 in the first period, fell behind 2-0 and never threatened to catch up.

A Chicago gathering of 16,666 saw centre Phil Esposito of Boston, the NHL's leading scorer, held scoreless for the second consecutive game.

GUMP WORSLEY
... back in form

The Black Hawks outshot Boston 51-25 to move within one point of fifth-place Toronto. The Bruins still have two games in hand on the Canadiens.

Hall's shutout before 15,906 at St. Louis was his eighth of the season and the 81st of his career. His eight shutouts combined with five by Jacques Plante gives the Blues 13 for the season, tying the team and individual record set by Harry Lumley of Toronto in 1953-54 and matched by Terry Sawchuk and Dave Gathrum of Detroit the same season.

Hall also was credited with an assist on a third-period goal by Terry Crisp when he set up the Blues' forward with a long pass while referee Tom Smith was calling a delayed penalty against Minnesota.

Other St. Louis goals went to Larry Keenan, with two, Ab McDonald, Red Berenson and Jim Roberts as the Blues moved 23 points ahead of runner-up Oakland in the Western Division.

It was the second three-goal performance for Howe this season and the 18th of his career. The 40-year-old right winger has 33 goals this season.

Howe's first goal came at 17:05 of the second period and evened the score at 3-3. He
